

SITE OPS

Overview:

The Site Operations Team is the backbone of the festival. From the first vehicle arriving to the last truck leaving, you keep everything moving and ensure every area has what it needs—power, plumbing, signage, furniture, décor, and safety equipment. Your work helps every department function smoothly so the event runs at its best.

You'll work closely with the Event Producing team and other departments, completing tasks safely, efficiently, and to a high standard. Site Ops is built on trust, communication, and reliability. We're looking for people who take ownership, work with care, and bring a positive attitude. If you enjoy being hands-on, thinking on your feet, and taking pride in doing things properly, this is the team for you.

Responsibilities and requirements:

- Infrastructure and Safety Setup: Installing barriers, fire points, and extinguishers; ensuring safety and emergency signage is in the right locations; and supporting the setup of traffic routes and vehicle access points.
- Logistics and Distribution: Using buggies or vans to transport equipment, distribute furniture and supplies, deliver fridges and freezers to venues, and move items around site as plans develop.
- Venue Preparation: Setting out gazebos, flags, and décor; placing sofas, chairs, and tables; installing branding and information boards; and ensuring venues are ready for the teams who will use them.
- Detail and Presentation: Taking time to make sure every area looks professional — signage straight, spaces tidy, kit stored neatly — so the site feels cared for from the start.
- Collaboration and Flexibility: Reporting progress, helping other teams when needed, and moving between tasks depending on priorities.

During the Event

Once the festival opens, Site Ops becomes the team that keeps everything moving. You'll help solve problems, restock supplies, and respond to requests from across the site.

Key Responsibilities:

- Operational Support: Responding to calls for help from other teams deploying equipment, replacing signage, delivering resources, helping the program run smoothly and fixing small issues before they become big ones.
- Safety and Maintenance: Proactively checking fire points, extinguishers, lighting, and access routes remain clear and functional. Reporting or resolving issues quickly.
- Site Presentation: Keeping public areas tidy, signage straight, and spaces welcoming. Keeping infrastructure looking smart throughout the event.
- Logistics and Movement: Managing vehicle movements where needed, supporting deliveries, and ensuring safe, efficient site access for contractors and suppliers.
- Communication and Coordination: Keeping the Site Ops Leads informed, noting tasks completed or partially done, and maintaining clear communication to help the wider team stay organised.

This phase is all about awareness and teamwork — helping make the festival run smoothly for everyone on site.

Pack Down

After the event, Site Ops leads the careful and efficient breakdown of the site.

Key Responsibilities:

- Dismantling and collecting furniture, signage, and equipment.
- Sorting and storing kit neatly for next year.
- Supporting contractor load-out and vehicle movements.
- Ensuring spaces are left clean, safe, and as we found them.

Site Ops suits people who:

- Enjoy practical work and problem-solving.
- Are organised, safety-conscious, and reliable.
- Can work with attention to detail.
- Like variety and teamwork.
- Love to continually learn from others
- Take satisfaction in doing unseen but essential work that makes a big impact.

You'll work in pairs or small groups, each contributing to the bigger picture — helping create and maintain a safe, inspiring space for thousands of people to enjoy.

Important Information

- A pre-site safety briefing video must be watched before arrival
- All volunteers will take part in an onsite toolbox talk before beginning work
