

PRODUCTION

Overview:

The Technical Production Team sits at the heart of creating extraordinary moments across Limitless Festival. From sound and lighting to video and presentation, this team ensures every venue, programme element and creative space looks and sounds exceptional throughout the week.

We're looking for volunteers with existing experience in at least one of the following areas:

- Live sound
- Lighting
- Video cameras / IMAG
- ProPresenter

Please let us know which skills you have when you apply.

You'll be assigned to a specific venue and role for the duration of the festival, working closely with our Technical Production Team Leader, a team of roving engineers, and our professional AV suppliers to keep everything running smoothly. Roles include:

- Sound engineer
- Sound assistant
- Lighting assistant / operator
- Camera operator
- ProPresenter operator
- Stage tech / venue tech support ...and other supporting production roles as needed.

New for this year: Our suppliers, together with highly respected freelance engineers, will be offering an online mentoring call and an in-person training day for volunteers who want to deepen their skills or explore a future in technical production. Those who attend the training day will be offered the chance to come early and assist with elements of the production setup, and technical load out of the festival site (details released closer to the time).

Because this is a skilled team, you'll need to have sufficient prior AV experience. If you're unsure whether you're ready, please reach out to our office — we're very happy to guide you.
